Interest in our Public Library increases every year. Eighty new books have been added this season. Mr. John S. Lawrence of Boston contributes annually several popular magazines. Col. E C Bean has kindly donated a handsome scrap book, in this you will find interesting slips relating to the Tilton and Belmont R.R

No. of books taken out during the past year 1850.

It has been thought best to change the time of opening the library to Wed. and Sat. afternoons and evenings.

SCHOOL REPORT.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

To the voters of the district of Belmont:

With the appropriations the maximum school year has been 36 weeks. Increase in scholars has made it necessary to run more schools this year than last. We find that the "High Cost of Living" extends to schools as well as other things as will be shown by the financial statement. Minor repairs have been made on several school houses, including painting of both Province Road school houses. At Gale the whole building was given two coats of paint, a porch built over the bulk-head and some grading done.

We feel the time has come when it is necessary to put in flush closets at Gale school as the present arrangement is not only unsanitary but beyond decency. Book cases were added to the two lower rooms to which the teachers and scholars contributed one-half the cost.

We ask the interest and cooperation of parents in the school gardens the coming season.

We reccommend the adoption of the medical inspection act.

We advise the voters to consider the reccommendations of the State Dep't in regard to High Schools.

Experience has proven the wisdom of having a man for janitor as the old cry of cold smoky rooms is never heard now.

We estimate the following sums as necessary for the coming year.

School money (general fund to be raised in school meeting)	$ 1500 00
Tuition	400 00
Text books	250 00
Salaries	150 00
Money required by law to be raised will be	1785 00
Estimated income from State Dec. 1914	1400 00

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board of the Town of Belmont:

I submit herein my fourth annual report as Superintendent of Schools.

Of the six rural school houses five have been occupied during the year. Of these, two, the Lower Province Road and the Plummer, have contained very small schools, each numbering some half dozen pupils. The others have numbered from twelve to eighteen pupils each. The Gale School has shown a considerable increase in numbers, coincident with the increase in business and population in the village.

The town was fortunate in retaining the strong corps of teachers in the Gale School, until the group was broken in December by the resignation of Miss Johnson to accept a position in the schools of Boston. Only one of the rural schools, the Ladd Hill, has retained the same teacher for the year. Three others have made no change since September, while one, the Union, has had four different teachers within the year.

In addition to the improvements lately made in the Gale School there are others for which there is urgent need. The form of outhouse now in use is exceedingly unsatisfactory, from the standpoint of both health and decency, and water closets should be installed in the basement at the earliest practicable moment. The one drinking fountain is quite inadequate for so many children and much time is wasted in waiting for a turn. It would be a change heartily appreciated by teachers and pupils if the sombre and depressing color of walls and ceilings could be replaced by a lighter tint. Of the rural schools both the Plummer and the Lower Province Road are in need of cupboards such as have been provided for the other schools, for holding books and supplies. Three of the rural schools are as yet unprovided with maps, these buildings having been closed at the time when maps were furnished to others.

Two members of last year's eighth grade have returned to accept the offer of the School Board to provide advanced work for the year. These are taking during the year arithmetic review, algebra, commercial geography, American Beginnings in Europe, English History, bookkeeping of a practical sort, penmanship, drawing, manual training, literature, and practice in writing and speaking. The installation of two benches, with tools, may mean much, I hope, in the future of the school.

Excellent work has been done in the school in the regular lines of school work, and some interesting new work has been inaugurated. The employment of a special teacher in music, thoroughly qualified for her work, has put the study of music upon a new basis, and the results are more than satisfactory. The books in use are admirable, not only as drill books, but as examples of good music, the simplest exercises being melodious and pleasing. The purchase of a Victrola by the school, with a variety of good records, at a cost of over $60, also means much in the cultivation of good taste in music, and in acquaintance with the best composers.

A bit of practical and useful hand-work has been the scraping and varnishing of a large number of desks by the larger boys, a more difficult and arduous task than appears in the mere statement. Chair seating with canes has also been taught to this group, some excellent work having been done.

The school savings bank has proved very successful in training the children in habits of thrift. Of the 123 pupils registered 67 have deposited money in the school bank, and, of these, 41 have opened accounts with the Iona Savings Bank. The total amount deposited from April 10, 1913, when the school bank was opened, to date, Feb. 1, 1914, is $245.69. Of this, $221 has been transferred to the Iona Savings Bank, only $6.33 has been withdrawn for spending.

A very successful experiment in home gardening has been made in the Gale School. Seeds were distributed in the early spring, and in the fall an exhibit was made of flowers and vegetables, to which parents and friends were invited. A committee from the Grange acted as Judges, and indicated prize winners by ribbons. I believe this work, and much other work directly connected with farm and home, should be given fullest encouragement in all the schools. It is none too early, in the elementary schools, to arouse an interest in some phases of farm life, to the end that the free, independent, and healthful life of the country may prove more attractive than that of the city.

One of the accepted tests of a school's efficiency is its ability to carry on its pupils from year to year, without undue retardation. According to the returns asked for by the U. S. Commissioner of Education, pupils who are over eight years of age upon entering the first grade, over nine upon entering the second etc., are reckoned belated pupils. Judged by this standard the Gale school has 11-1-2 per cent of belated pupils. A study of this backward group, however, reveals the fact that two are subnormal, two have been absent for long periods, and the remainder have recently come from other school systems. This is a showing more than creditable to the Gale school.

I have devoted as much time as possible since the close of the fall term to organizing the work in the office. It is necessary to keep in hand a great variety of accounts, lists, records and documents, a variety so great that it would be impossible to enumerate them. The thousands of facts included are available if they are arranged systematically, and often completely lost without system. A vertical filing cabinet, with acompanying card catalogs installed during the year, is a great aid to efficiency. A record of great importance is that of every child, giving the entire school history, promotions, teachers, attendance, rank in various studies, health, conduct, effort, etc., preserved upon a system of cards and sheets on file in the superintendent's office. These are useful, not only as a history of the individual pupil, but may furnish material for studies of the greatest practical importance in education.

The legislature, at its last session, passed a law giving school districts the power to appoint school physicians. It is an important question for every district to raise, whether they wish to take advantage of this act. We have not yet fully awakened to the overwhelming importance of safeguarding and improving the child's health. It is certain that in the future this will be the chief concern of the school. It may be said, in explanation of this act, that it does not contemplate free treatment of pupils, but a regular examination, at least once a year, of each child, for the purpose of discovering any conditions which tend to handicap him in his work in the school, or to threaten his health and well being. If such conditions are discovered, they are reported to the parents for treatment.

The year has been one of progress, and the schools are today in excellent condition.

Respectfully submitted,

Charles A. Breck,

Superintendent of Schools.
